

A sought-after violinist, Chie Yoshinaka has been performing and teaching all over United States and abroad. The highlight of recent seasons includes Brahms' Concerto for Violin and Cello with Micha Haran (the former principal cello of the Israel Philharmonic) and the ABS-CBN Philharmonic in Quezon City, Philippines and Baroque concerti with St. Paul's Episcopal Church's chamber orchestra in Greenwich, Connecticut. Her solo and chamber music engagements have taken her throughout the United States, Graz (Austria), Tokyo and Yokohama (Japan).

Also an avid orchestral player, she has appeared as a guest concertmaster with numerous orchestras such as Lake George Chamber Orchestra. With the AIMS Festival Orchestra she performed in Steirmark region of Austria in 2012 and 2014. She has performed regularly with Civic Orchestra of Chicago, Northwest Indiana Symphony and New York Asian Symphony.

Chie has served on faculty at music schools, festivals and youth orchestras such as Chicago Youth Symphony. In 2013, she was on artist-faculty of Opusfest Antipolo: the International Classical Music Camp in the Philippines. As a Visiting Mentor of Orchestra of the Filipino Youth, she coached the combined orchestra of OFY and other young musicians at Child Aid Asia 2016 in Malaysia, and she was invited to give a masterclass at Fine Arts and Music in Kuala Lumpur. She is a founding member of the Stamford Orchestral Institute, providing a new type of youth orchestra experience by giving its leadership to students.

She is a graduate of Manhattan School of Music (B.M.) and New York University (M.A.) where she received the Graduate Education Scholarship and Kappa Delta Pi membership. Her major teachers include Neil Weintrob and Peter Winograd.
